

A Memoir of Daniel Lathrop Coit of Norwich, Connecticut: 1754 1833 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from A Memoir of Daniel Lathrop Coit of Norwich, Connecticut: 1754 1833A Wise man - was it Plutarch who in his time took many lives? - said it is a desirable thing to be well descended but the glory belongs to the ancestors. However desirable it may be to give honor to whom honor is due, it is imperative to limit the number of the ancestors now to be commemorated, lest beginning our family tree, as Lord Chesterfield did, in the garden of Eden with Adam de Stanhope and Eve de Stanhope, we find ourselves burdened with a long list of forbears, of whom it may only be said they lived and died, a list scarcely more entertaining than the book of Chronicles. The particular ancestor to whom we are now to pay our tribute of honor is Daniel Lathrop Coit. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. My curiosity got the best of me the other day and I gave in by watching one of those "End of the World" conspiracies videos. This time around the date is set for July 29, 2016. So in three days the biblical prophecies will come true and we will be swallowed up by hell fire while the others who are "saved" will rejoice in the heavens.
