

Cross Creek Kitchens: Seasonal Recipes and Reflections

For many years, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings's home in Cross Creek, the place where she wrote many of her most beloved works, has been open to the public under the aegis of the Florida State Park system. Sally Morrison, one of the home's first tour guides, spent years living on the grounds, maintaining the garden, cooking the food that Rawlings loved, and interpreting the home for visitors. Nearly thirty years ago, she and her Cross Creek neighbor Kate Barnes created Cross Creek Kitchens to highlight the southern fare and local favorites enjoyed by Rawlings and her guests over the years. Ahead of its time in emphasizing slow cooking and local produce, the cookbook enjoyed a steady popularity for decades, with first editions now selling as collectors' items. Intertwined with stories of life in Cross Creek, this new edition remains amazingly relevant to today's food trends. More than 150 recipes reflect the seasons' bounties and focus on natural ingredients; the Sweet Tater Pie, for example, calls for cane syrup or honey as a healthier alternative to refined sugar. Other tasty recipes found in Cross Creek Kitchens include Southern Pea Soup, Kate's Hogwild Macaroni and Cheese, Beach Grouper, Gingerbread Waffles, South Moon Persimmon Bread, Orange Blossom Carrot Cake, and a variety of cornbread variations.

My curiosity got the best of me the other day and I gave in by watching one of those "End of the World" conspiracies videos. This time around the date is set for July 29, 2016. So in three days the biblical prophecies will come true and we will be swallowed up by hell fire while the others who are "saved" will rejoice in the heavens.
