

Explore It Labs 2002

These sixteen labs are designed specifically to engage users in topics within the computer concepts curriculum that are difficult to understand. They demand interactivity on the part of the learner to promote a true understanding of the material and include an Introduction section, an Explore section, and a ten-question Quiz section for each Lab. A five-part organization covers computer fundamentals, computer systems, computer applications, internet and networking, and programming. For a better working knowledge of computers, office applications, and information systems technology.
