you can reduce capital gains tax in 2013/2014. The highest rate of capital gains tax (CGT) is currently 28% however with careful planning it can often be significantly reduced or even eliminated. In this book we look at what you can (and cant) do to reduce your CGT charge. The book starts off by looking at in detail exactly how you calculate any CGT before examining the main ways you can then reduce it. There are a number of CGT reliefs available which, where they can apply, can often eliminate CGT completely. We look at all of the main reliefs in detail. If you want to avoid CGT completely, moving abroad is one of the simplest way in many respects. We devote a large section of the guide to non resident CGT planning. The humble annual exemption shouldnt be overlooked as it can be used very effectively in many cases - particularly where there is joint ownership.
This is given its own chapter in this book. Offshore trusts and companies are now subject to a number of anti avoidance rules, however they can still be used to avoid CGT if youre well advised. We look at CGT planning with offshore companies and trusts in detail in this guide. For many people, the main occasion they come into contact with CGT is when they sell property. We therefore have a specific chapter on CGT planning for property disposals. What is included in this Book? Heres a more detailed list of what this guide covers: A detailed analysis of the CGT calculation, to enable you to calculate your own capital gains How to calculate your proceeds for CGT purposes (what you can and cant deduct) How your base cost is calculated - including the CGT pooling provisions When you can and cant qualify
