This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1833 Excerpt: ... from frost. Surround the trunk of the tree with a wisp of straw or hemp, one end of which, with a stone tied to it, is to be sunk in a vessel of spring water at a little distance from the tree; one vessel will conveniently serve two trees; or the cord may be lengthened so as to surround several before its end is plunged into the water. The vessel should be placed in an open situation, out of the reach of any shade, so that the frost may produce all its effects on the water by means of the cord communicating with it. 322. To remove the mildew on wheat. A solution of common salt in water, a pound to a gallon, is an excellent remedy. With a pail of the mixture jn on hand, and a brush in the other hand, sprinkle it over the field, repeating three or four days, and the mildew will soon disappear. 323. Uses to which frozen potatoes may be applied. Frozen potatoes, when three times distilled, produce a spirit from hydrometer proof to ten per cent, over proof; therefore a principal purpose and use to which they may be turned, is the making of alcohol. 324. To destroy the fly onturnips. As the turnips come up, sow recently slacked lime upon them. It is an infallible protection. 325. Remedy against the bite of the turnip Jly. Soak the seed in train oil before it is sown. 326. To preserve eggs. Apply with a brush a solution of gum arabic, or immerse the eggs in it; dry them, and pack them in dry charcoal dust. 327. A substitute for milk and cream. Beat up the whole of a fresh egg in a basin, and then pour boiling tea over it gradually, to prevent its curdling. It is difficult from the taste to distinguish it from rich cream. 328. The best way to preserve butter. Take two parts of the best common salt, one part of sugar, and one of saltpetre; beat them up

My curiosity got the best of me the other day and I gave in by watching one of those "End of the World" conspiracies videos. This time around the date is set for July 29, 2016. So in three days the biblical prophecies will come true and we will be swallowed up by hell fire while the others who are "saved" will rejoice in the heavens.
