

Supersensible Knowledge

Steiner demonstrates in these lectures that spiritual science is not a mere theory, but a necessity in modern life. He addresses many riddles of life -- such as our relation to the spiritual world, evolution, and destiny; the mystery of birth and death; the origin of evil and illness; and the problems of education. These lectures form part of Steiners remarkable public lecture series given each year at the Architects House in Berlin from 1904 to 1918.
